

Equity Research Analyst

New York

This role is regulated by FINRA

As a Barclays Equity Research Analyst, you will be analyzing industry macro trends and company financials under the direction of the Senior Analyst. You will enjoy a diverse range of work and expand your experience as you prepare research reports that vary in size and scope. With the experience and depth of resources, Global Equity Research is dedicated to providing insightful analysis of global stock markets and companies.

Barclays is one of the world's largest and most respected financial institutions, with 329 years of success, quality and innovation behind us. We've helped millions of individuals and businesses thrive, creating financial and digital solutions that the world now takes for granted. An important and growing presence in the USA, we offer careers providing endless opportunity.

Barclays seeks to attract, develop and retain talented individuals from all different backgrounds. We are committed to building a diverse, equitable and inclusive culture that enables our colleagues, customers, clients and communities to grow. We all have a role in making this happen. Diverse teams are proven to be higher-performing and more resilient, and diversity, equity and inclusion (DEI) is key to attracting and retaining top talent and meeting the expectations of our clients, regulators, shareholders, and stakeholders.

Salary / Rate Minimum: 110,000

Salary / Rate Maximum: 160,000

The minimum and maximum salary/rate information above include only base salary or base hourly rate. It does not include any another type of compensation or benefits that may be available.

We're committed to providing a supportive and inclusive culture and environment for you to work in. This environment recognizes and supports ways to balance your personal needs, alongside the professional needs of our business. Providing the opportunity for all our employees, globally to work flexibly empowers each of us to work in a way that suits our lives as well as enabling us to better service our customers' and clients' needs. Whether you have family commitments or you're a career, or whether you need study time or wish to pursue personal interests, our approach to working flexibly is designed to help you balance your life. If you would like some flexibility, then please discuss this with the hiring manager, and your request will be reviewed subject to business needs.

We are currently in the early stages of implementing a hybrid working environment, which means that many colleagues spend part of their working hours at home and part in the office, depending on the nature of the role they are in. Please discuss the detail of the working pattern options for the role with the hiring manager.

What will you be doing?

- Building and maintaining financial models and industry databases for evaluating companies and market segments
- Reviewing business and trade publications, annual reports, financial filings and other sources in order to gather, synthesize and interpret data on companies followed by team
- Researching, analyzing and forecasting the impact of technology as well as varying corporate strategies

- Writing research reports varying from quick briefs on earnings results or strategic events to more in-depth, original thought pieces
- Communicating recommendations to sales, trading, management teams, institutional investor clients and other important stakeholders
- Developing marketing materials for clients and attend industry conferences where appropriate

What we're looking for:

- You will have a Bachelor's degree and/or relevant experience
- A fantastic verbal and written communicator who enjoys collaborating with others
- Individuals seeking a career pivot, that follow the stock market closely, and have conducted some self-study
- An accounting background would be a plus, but not required

Skills that will help you in the role:

- This role requires FINRA licensing: SIE, S63, S86, S87. However, if you are not registered, we will offer sponsorship that will allow you to achieve this
- Your analytical and problem solving skills and a resourceful, entrepreneurial spirit will help you work effectively in our team environment
- You will have demonstrated ability to multi-task in a time sensitive environment whilst maintaining a high level of attention to detail
- Financial experience including financial modeling, financial statement analysis and working with large data sets would be helpful

Where will you be working?

You will be working at our Americas Headquarters at 745 Seventh Avenue. This 32-story office tower is located in Times Square in the heart of Manhattan and features a cafeteria, fitness center and state-of-the-art LED signage on the facade of the building.

Because this position involves regular in-person contact with other employees and stakeholders, the Company requires proof of vaccination against COVID-19. As an equal opportunity employer, the Company will provide reasonable accommodation to those individuals who are unable to be vaccinated consistent with federal, state, and local law.